Introduction

In this work we are going to embroider everything that has been seen in the semester addressing the issue of migration and how it affects education and we ask ourselves: What is migration? It is moving from one place to another and trying to settle there, but the latter is always complicated because you don't know what the community and society of that place is like; Maybe you have an idea of what it is like from the news you read or watch, but reality is not always as it is painted

Development

The school where I do the practices is called Mexico High School This school has the morning shift the CCT is 15PESO50910B the days that the practices were held were from October 28 to October 30 the second phase of practices was from December 2 to 4 and we are waiting for the last practice which is from January 27 to January 29 the context in which the school is located is an urban environment and is surrounded by shops, on Mondays the market opens which produces some traffic at the time of departure since it is on the avenue, the students of the school are calm and disciplined, the teachers are strict but at the same time charismatic, which makes the students sometimes feel safe and this school has a rate high school school dropout;

For this, instruments that were used were questionnaires and an attitude scale for the questionnaire was to know how students, teachers and parents feel about education in times of pandemic and this helps us to know how to work if another pandemic occurs and the scale of attitudes is to know everything that was worked in person knowing how they work in both directions we can know how to work and be able to solve some problems;

For this, there is social development, it is necessary since the human being has to relate to other people and that at the same time enters cognitive development, this being the development of language, memory, problem solving, etc., and at the same time time that these develop, the emotional develops, this is the one that defines your moods and how you behave with those around you and cultural development takes place from home since our parents begin to educate us and this is reinforced with the friendships that share our tastes being that they themselves have the same culture and once these developments are developed they begin to be put into practice in adolescence since you already know what is right and what is wrong and you have more vision of everything what is happening around you;

In Mexico there are not many job opportunities, for example Teachers of all areas Private educational institution is looking for Teachers for initial, primary and secondary level. They must have a minimum experience of 2 years and a good relationship with young people. Students of the last cycles of the education career will also be admitted. The contract will be full time. Universia \(2021\) being that if you go to a place to ask for a job they tell you that they have a lot of experience or they give the job to someone who has no knowledge about the job and the teachers who have jobs are those who have achieved a position in the teaching profession or are teachers of physical chemistry or mathematics for being engineers;

The above means that the environment corresponds to the spaces in which the learning activities are going to take place, this can be of three types: classroom, real and virtual. In the first, the teaching-learning activities are developed in the classroom, the real environment can be a laboratory, a company, clinic, library, green areas; that is to say, real scenarios where the application of the acquired knowledge and skills can be verified, also including the practice of attitudes and values. Virtual environments are those that are created through the use of Information and Communication Technologies, in order to provide students with resources that facilitate their learning process, within these ICT we can mention the computer, cannon, a virtual classroom, the use of the internet where they can have access to blogs, discussion forums, chat, specialized pages in which young people find fun activities, such as solving crosswords, puzzles, etc., which well used contribute enormously to the acquisition of learning by the student.

The learning climate is interaction, communication between those who are within the teaching - learning process, this must occur between the teacher and the students and vice versa, as well as between the student - student. Within this climate, harmony, trust, security, and respect should prevail, so that students can express themselves freely, make known any concerns or doubts in favor of obtaining true learning, also within this space the establishment of norms and rules that help the proper development of the Teaching-Learning Process.

Regarding the role of the teacher, the main task is to promote the generation of learning environments that favor the acquisition of skills by students, hence the appropriate environment must be established for the development of teaching-learning activities, Taking into account the characteristics or resources that they require for their effective development, it is also important to create a learning climate, it is also necessary to take into account that this learning environment and climate must be formulated according to the environment in which we want to generate this process since, depending on social, cultural, political, economic, family, infrastructure and, of course, environmental factors, among others, our purpose can be realized. For high school students it is very difficult to understand some things in their subjects, but more in English class and more in this time of pandemic, why does it happen? Well, this happens because if you fall behind in something or you do not have internet or electricity, you cannot understand the subject and it is more difficult for you to be able to carry out the activities that were left that day, the teachers of the Colegio México high school are very demanding, but try to be understanding with students, but try to learn new things, especially in English, math, among others.

In every house there are beliefs and there are also problems, beliefs are given from the moment one is born and your family instills it in you, but why do problems occur in the houses?

Well, these occur when there are disagreements in the tasks of other people, but these are resolved by talking, but not always people want to talk about the problem and try to avoid it, but for a place to prosper there must be dialogue and democracy so that this place prospers and does not collapse, as happened with the Roman Empire, the highest authorities on this period, E.A Thompson, in a brilliant essay entitled The First Germanic War Past and Present 14 (1958), 2-29

"If we ask ourselves how the barbarians came to overthrow the western empire, we can answer that the question implies that the fall of the empire was essentially a military defeat"

This collapse occurs because they had a bad democracy, they did not have full control of their army and the people were not listened to and there were also struggles for the military leadership; but when you have an order of everything you can live in peace

All of the above can be linked to the axis Training for teaching and learning / English-speaking cultures with the issue of migration Why does migration of people occur? Well for this there are many factors that can cause the migration of people.

but why is it said that we migrate? It is said that we migrate to look for new or better things, but we always went to the same places in ancient times, people in certain months of the year went to a place to feed themselves and when that season changed they went to the next harvest area of the season and currently we do it without realizing it, when a season you do not like, you try to go or look for new things to "enjoy" life but this also affects people, for example in school education if parents say they are they go elsewhere the child is shocked because they do not know where they are going to go and they do not know what education is like in that country and this same one loses a year because they do not know how much time they are going to spend in finding a place to live and a job to pay bills and other things; to which this also affects the culture of the other country, since you don't know what immigrants are like and what their culture was like; But for that, the socio-cognitive emotional development and the development of language will be reflected since thanks to these immigrants you will be able to relate and learn new languages and they too, but if you never developed them it will be very difficult for you to communicate with the people of the country and if You do not speak the language of the country or at least English is going to complicate everything you have to do a lot and at the same time you are an economic problem for both you and the country but before the problem was the native country but why what was a problem for the native country? because I couldn't give you the things you need to support yourself and that is why you emigrated to another country to be able to give your family something better

But by doing this you harm your family since you do not know if the children and your wife want to migrate, but by not knowing you take them away and you are damaging their security and confidence and this causes their development to be affected

For all the above, it can be concluded that all of the above will not always be in development, since democracy will not always exist in the communities, an example may be in the convivialities of the schools when they do not understand each other, everything is always done. that it was possible to talk before the misunderstandings; either problems are not discussed at home or culture is not taught correctly, among other things. But how is it that everything is connected to be able to relate to people, but there are many ways of being able to communicate without having to develop everything, for example dancing, or music, they facilitate being able to communicate, but I do not mean that you have to do That
